

ABSTRACT:

In a normally black double cell, grey scale enhancement is obtained by dividing pixels in the driving cell into sub-pixels which are rotated preferably through  $180^\circ$  with respect to each other.